

Varga Winery - #1 in Hungary

History

Badacsony belongs to the oldest wine-regions of Hungary. The Roman emperor, Probus let plant vines more than 2000 years ago. The south-slopes of the volcanic „witness” mountain Badacsony and the ideal microclimate of the lake Balaton offer optimal conditions to grape-growing, winemaking.

After the privatisation of the former state owned Badacsonyi ÁG (founded in 1958), we started to work in our winery in Badacsonyörs with my wife and my parents in 1993. Since that, thanked to the continuous investment and consequent commercial work we could multiply the production. Focusing to the domestic market, we got the nick-name – Hungary’s favourite winery.

Belonging to the major player of the Hungarian wine industry, we decided now to make a step to the international markets, having new challenges, new contacts, new partners.

Actually we work with our sons and hope they will continue it with our grandchildren!

The logo for VARGA, featuring the brand name in a white, serif font with a stylized 'V' and 'A', set against a red, rounded rectangular background.A photograph of three men in a winery. The man on the left is older, with grey hair, wearing a white polo shirt and leaning on a stainless steel tank. The man in the middle is younger, wearing a red and white striped polo shirt, leaning over the tank. The man on the right is the youngest, wearing a maroon polo shirt and blue jeans, sitting on the tank. They are all smiling. The background shows a vineyard and a forested hill under a clear blue sky.
