HUNGARIAN

WINE REGIONS AND WINERIES

HUNGARY'S WINE REGIONS AND WINE DISTRICTS

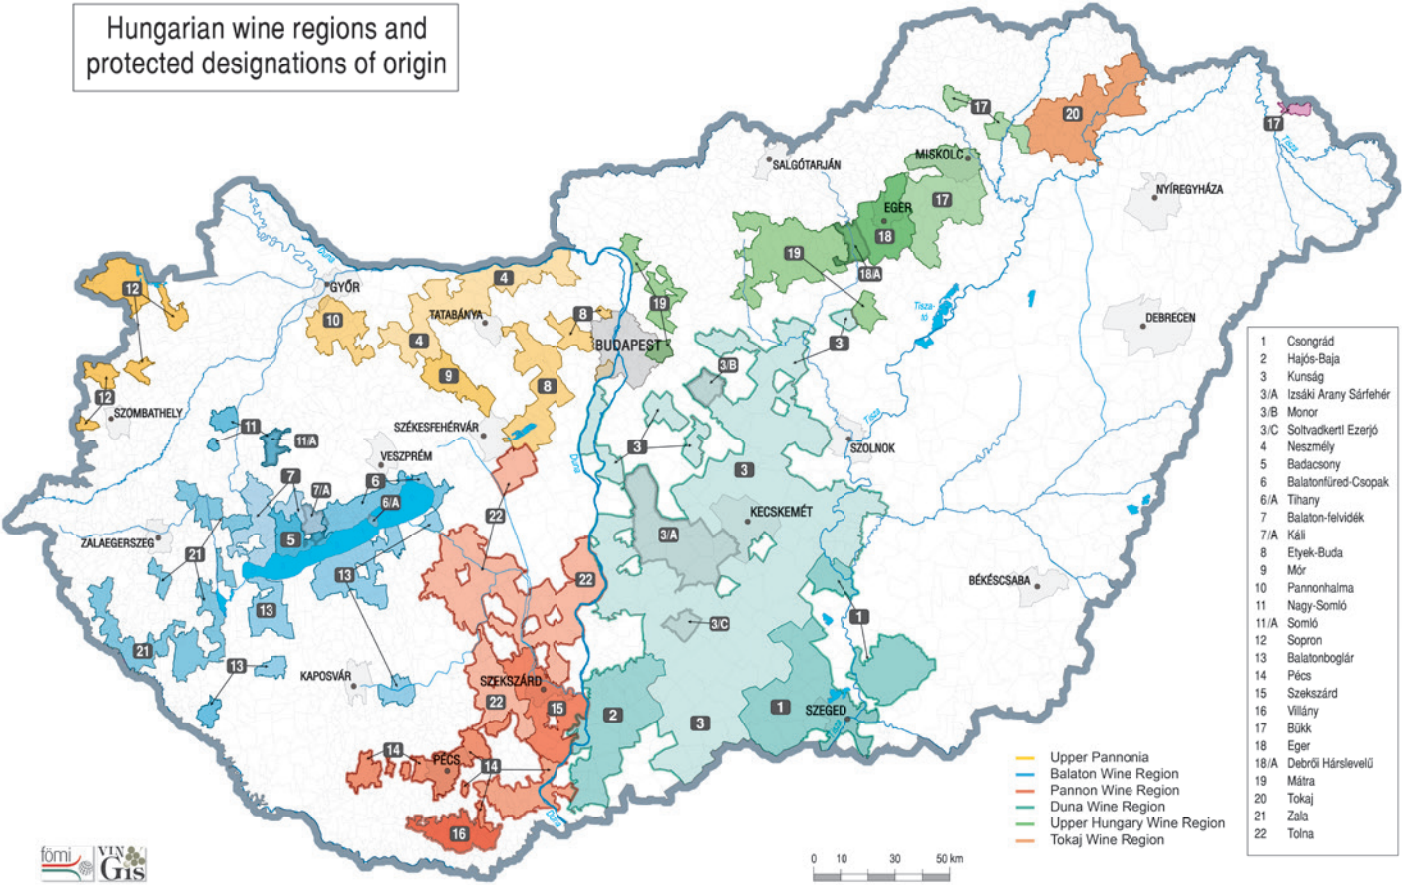

This catalogue presents the wines of Hungary by wine regions. We define „wine region” as a unit comprising geographically proximal or contiguous winegrowing areas with similar conditions in terms of climate, terrain, soil type, and veriatal composition, wich possess specific and interrelated traditions of grape-growing and wine-making.

The wine regions officially designated today do not cover the entirety of the wine districts of Hungary. In some cases, the classification is based on convention as some official wine region boundaries do not exist yet. Respecting the stated desire of winegrower communities, in addition to the three existing wine regions of Balaton, Duna and Pannon, we have identified another three units satisfying the definition outlined above, namely Upper Pannonia (Felső-Pannon), Upper Hungary (Felső-Magyarország) and Tokaj, where the latter merits classification as a wine region in its own right due to the uniqueness of its wines. The principal benefit of this taxonomy is that it enables the comprehensive presentation of Hungary's evolving system of geographical indications, which is still in gradual transition. This book provides a concise description of each region highlighting its most important geographical features as well as listing its protected geographical indications (PGIs) and protected designations of origin (PDOs).

According to the official definition, PDO wines owe their quality and properties „essentially or exclusively to a specific geographical environment and the human and natural factors associated with it.” In the case of wines made from grapes grown in Hungary, these wines may alternatively be labelled as 'védett eredetű bor' in Hungarian. At present, there are 31 PDOs in Hungary, most of wich (22) coincide with the name of a wine district, while some (2) have been named after their respective wine regions or after a specific wine typical of a narrower regional unit, such as Debrői Hárslevelű.

UPPER PANNONIA

Upper Pannonia is one of the country's wine regions that has not yet been officially designated as such.

It comprises five smaller districts of Northern Transdanubia with a total of 5700 hectares under vines in the northeastern part of the Transdanubia Hill, including the slopes of the Kőszeg, Sopron, Vértess, Velence, Buda and Gerecse ranges, as well as in the separate Pannonhalma Hills, at altitudes of 150 meter to 400 meter.

The essentially continental climate is shaped by cool westerly winds bringing moisture from the mountains and the Atlantic ocean to the west, and by hot and dry southerly winds from the Mediterranean sea. The region's souls predominantly consist of Ramman-type brown forest luvials.

Upper Pannonia includes the following PDOs and PGIs: Dunántúl (Transdanubia – PGI), Etyek-Buda (PDO), Mór (PDO), Neszmedly (PDO), Pannonhalma (PDO), Sopron (PDO).

Hilltop Neszmély Winery

HILLTOP

1988, the beginning. Hilltop gained prestige and credibility with high quality wines at first abroad - mainly in the United Kingdom. From 1993 Hungary has become the main focus for our wines. We guarantee with each bottle freshness, vibrant vitality, delightfully representing the wine regions of Neszmély and Szekszárd, where our vineyards are located.

We produce wines which are perfect to enjoy now and the freshness and roundness of our products are unforgettable treats. This is due to our own 560 hectares of excellent and high-altitude vineyards, their riverside location close to the Danube, enjoying a magical microclimate, which contributes to the fact that some of the finest wines of the region come from our vineyards.

Abbey Winery Pannonhalma

At the time of building the monastery, the Benedictine monks settled on the Sacred Hill of Pannonia in 996 also revived the viticulture of the region first introduced by the Romans. 50 years after the confiscations following World War II, the Archabbey Pannonhalma and the MKB Bank wakened this tradition again by creating new plantations and winery.

Two-thirds of the newly planted vineyards of 50 ha total area were devoted to white (Rheinriesling, Sauvignon Blanc, Gewürztraminer, Welshriesling, Chardonnay, Pinot Blanc) and one-third to red grape varieties (Pinot Noir, Merlot, Cabernet Franc). The cellar technology fitted to the composition of the varieties and based on gravitational material movement is suitable for producing more than 300.000 bottles of quality wine a year.

Taschner Winery

TASCHNER

HUNGARY » SOPRON

Family owned winery, cultivating 20 hectares of land. Following the way of the hard-working local vine-growers, the „Ponzichters” and inspired by the family, Kurt Taschner owns today one of the leading wineries of this region.

In the early years he started to bottle the wines made by his father, alongside the work he studied all the knowledge of winemaking and today he is managing a winery equipped with modern technologies. Participating in the local wine marketing and wine tourism belongs also to his priorities. Recently new plots were planted.

His winery is located on a hill overlooking the town. This area is named as the „Cross of Rest” where centuries ago the travellers and merchants made a short break before entering the city. The Taschner winery includes not only the production site, but also a wine shop and a tasting area where all his wines, sparkling wines and brandies can be tasted.

BALATON WINE REGION

The Balaton Wine Region comprises the six wine districts around and near the lake, including Badacsony, Balatonboglár, Balaton-felvidék, Balatonfüred-Csopak, Nagy-Somló and Zala, with a total of some 8600 hectares under vines.

The largest lake in Western and Central Europe, Lake Balaton has a powerful influence on the overall continental climate of the area, making summers cooler, the air more humid, and the winter milder than is the norm at the same latitude elsewhere in Europe. Just as importantly, the Bakony range at a distance from the northern shore protects the lake basin from cold northerly and westerly winds. The area has extremely diverse soils including basalt, red forest soil and redzina, weathered sandstone, loess, marl, Pannonian sand, clay, and basalt mixture, as well as lassivage brown forest soil, brown earth and chernozem.

The Balaton wine region includes the following wines of protected origin (PDO) and land wines (PGI): Badacsony (PDO), Balaton (PGI), Balatonboglár (PDO), Balaton-felvidék (PDO), Balatonfüred-Csopak (PDO), Balatonmellék (PGI), Dunántúl (Transdanubia – PGI), Káli (PDO), Nagy-Somló (PDO), Somlói (PDO), Tihany (PDO), Zala (PDO).

Garamvári Winery

Tornai Winery

TORNAI
PINCÉSZET

The Tornai Winery is the largest family winery of Somló. It is not just internationally acknowledged, excellent wines are made here; the estate centre at the Southern foot of the hill is the venue of unique events as well. The Somló's age long viticultural traditions were based on the special features of the production site. The phrase “Small World Wine”, used increasingly widespread among the world's wine connoisseurs, is as if it was introduced to refer to Somló: it is hard to find another wine region, which could produce such unique and exciting flavours. Everyone can find something here that dislocates them from the world of average consumers and mass-produced wines. The Somló's wine is typically a long-time matured, fiery, mineral, full-bodied white wine, but lighter, fruity ones are made in our cellars as well.

The region's most historical dunes, production of 75 barrels, the modern steel tanks, the comfortable wine-terrace and the big hall, all proves; that in our 70 years of history we have always tried to provide our best and uniqueness. The variety of the wines of Tornai shows nicely the variety and diversity of Somló. We would be pleased to welcome You at Hungary's historical wine region, at Tornai Winery.

PANNON WINE REGION

The Pannon Wine Region consists of the undulating country in the southwestern part of Hungary delimited by the Danube and Drava rivers and Lake Balaton, including the more southern slopes of the prominent ranges of Villány and the Mecsek.

The Pannon Wine Region consists of the undulating country in the southwestern part of Hungary delimited by the Danube and Drava rivers and Lake Balaton, including the more southern slopes of the prominent ranges of Villány and the Mecsek. The region's 7500 hectares of vines are shared by four wine districts: Pécs, Szekszárd, Tolna and Villány. The continental climate is shaped under Mediterranean influences from the south. The bedrock underneath the hills in Tolna and Baranya consists of clayey sedimentary rocks overlain by loess and adobe. The same soil types also often occur over the limestone corpus of the taller Villány and Mecsek ranges.

The Pannon wine region includes the following protected origin (PDO) and land wine (PGI) designations: Dunántúl (Transdanubia – PGI), Pannon (PDO), Pécs (PDO), Szekszárd (PDO), Tolna (PDO), Villány (PDO).

Bock Winery

Our estates are situated in the south of Hungary, in the Villány wine region. At present we cultivate 70 hectares of our own and another 70 hectares of integrated land.

Our estates are in the best locations of the Villány wine region (Kopár-dűlő, Jammertál, Fekete-hegy, Ördögárok), where for the most part red grape types are grown.

Csányi Winery

“As a result of our efforts to develop our company, beyond its external overhaul, our winery has become a modern wine producing enterprise, where, while having the technology that is indispensable for progressive wine production, we still also bear in mind the great wine production traditions established by our predecessors. The fundamental thing is to maintain and present in the wines the value that has been produced in the grapes.”

Our modern bottling plant is equipped with the most up-to-date technology currently available, ensuring the safe handling of our quality wines aged traditionally in wooden and/or barrique barrels. Our production capacity is approximately 2 million bottles per annum.

Our quality insurance system is highly developed and we have one of the best-equipped wine laboratories in Hungary for carrying out the analytical evaluation of our wines. Our commitment to quality is reflected in the activity of all our employees, from vine production to marketing. Our future success is ensured by cleanliness, precision and reliability. We are convinced that satisfied consumers are the key to long-term success.”

Gere Tamás & Zsolt Winery

GERE
VILLÁNY

Over 25 years of tradition. Our fully family run business has been in viniculture and wine production for dozens of year, located in Villány, the Southernmost part of Hungary, which is also one of the most popular and acclaimed wine regions. We launched our first bottled wine in 1988, which made us one of the best known vineyards in the country. The Gere Tamas brand was first introduced 25 years ago, representing dedication to outstanding quality. With vines set in 35 hectares our plantations are located at the best quality terroirs of the region. As an ambassador of quality we only produce bottled wines. Our yearly yield is between 250 to 300 thousand bottles ranging from white wines, rose and red wines. Our wines are part of the local Protected Designation of Origin PDO - DHC Villány.

Currently, roughly 80% of our production is dedicated to our basic range (DHC Classicus) and our selection range (DHC Premium) is only made in a few thousand bottles. Our turnover is generated mainly by the Classicus wines, which are distributed in supermarkets. Our small quantity prime range however is specially distributed into quality channels, such as gastro pubs and independent wine merchants.

Our main focus is keeping the signatures of the terroir mixed with traditional wine making of course. It is especially important to our Estate to preserve and popularise Hungarian varietals.

We make our wines with the deepest respect and they help create the perfect moment once they are opened: assisting a deep conversation, a rendezvous, or evoking shared memories.

DUNA WINE REGION

The Duna Wine Region, the largest wine-producing area in Hungary, occupies the plain between the Danube and Tisza rivers in the center south of the country and comprises some 23000 hectares of vines, divided by three wine districts: Csongrád, Hajós-Baja and the Kunság.

The climate here is quintessentially continental, as it is in much of the country, with hot summers and cold winters. The soil patterns shows little variation: the bulk of the region has calcareous sandy soils, although here and there brown forest soils, chernozem, meadow and alluvial soils occur as well. Most of the sand consists of alluvium deposited by the meandering Danube over the millenia.

The Duna wine region is home to the following wines of protected origin (PDO) and land wines (PGI) designations: Csongrád (PDO), Duna (PDO), Duna-Tisza közí (PGI), Hajós-Baja (PDO), Izsáki Arany Sárfehér (PDO), Kunság (PDO), Monor (PDO), Soltvadkerti Ezerjő (PDO).

Bognár Winery

Frittmann Winery

Frittmann wines are produced in a family venture in Soltvadkert, which is located in Hungary's biggest wine region: the Kunság. Our parents and grandparents worked in viticulture and winemaking and the newest generation follows the tradition too. The two youngest sons studied winemaking, and now actively participate in the everyday work at Frittmann Winery. Until now, we have 50 hectares of self-owned vineyards, and we have qualified partners from whom we integrate good quality grape into our wine production.

It was János Frittmann, who was awarded Winemaker of The Year for the first time from our wine region in 2007. It was a breakthrough point for the whole Kunság region. In that year, we completed our lodging house and event venue. In 2013 we expanded with a cellar opened to guided tours and a wine shop, so our guests can see the process of winemaking.

Comprising a total of some 12000 hectares planted with vines, the region includes the Bükk, Mátra and Eger wine districts. The climate is shaped under the main influence of the mountains wich make up Hungary's Northern Range, whose peaks shelter the vineyards from cold northerly winds. The predominant soils are diverse brown forest soils, as well as loess, brown forest soils evolved over volcanic rhyolite tuff. Some locations are characterized by sheet alluvial sands or brown forest soils over calcareous marine sediments.

Gál Tibor Winery

GÁLTIBOR
PINCÉSZET

Gál Tibor Winery was established in Verőszala Street back in 1993. Tibor Gál was the first to realize the significance of terroir based viticulture. Utilizing his expertise he searched for the most interesting and best situated vineyards of Eger and following the selection of grape varieties and clones he planted over 40 hectares of vines in three waves (1997, 1999, 2002).

On the 10th of February in 2005 the founder, Tibor Gál sadly passed away while working as a consultant in South Africa. The management of the estate was taken over by his family. In 2011 two silent partners joined with the objective of helping the winery out and continuing the legacy and work of Tibor Gál.

From that year on Tibor Gál Jr. has taken over the professional management of the estate. Based on his experience gained abroad and in Hungary he and the winery team have planned to establish a modern processing plant in the centre of the vineyards, and have dreamt of creating a modern and attractive Bikavér Museum with adjoining service areas conforming to the spirit of our age to increase tourism. We are proud of our past and want to continue this into the future; therefore, rebuilding has been started...

The aim of Gál Tibor Winery – in addition to restoring the reputation of the unique style Egri Bikavér and furthering the successful launch of the new white cuvée, Egri Csillag, on the market – is to establish a state-of-the-art cellar and ecological estate based on local values and culture."

Gróf Buttler Winery

Gróf Buttler

The Gróf Buttler Winery was founded in Eger in 1999. Our oenological philosophy is making perfect wine in keeping with the features of the land and with the least possible intervention. Today we grow vine on 36 hectares of land and our wine is exclusively made from the grapes harvested on our own cultivated vineyards.

We have two vineyards in the Eger region, on Szarkás hill and on Nagy-Eged hill. We began with the plantations on the volcanic soil of Szarkás hill in 2000, and continued with Nagy-Eged in 2003.

Nagy-Eged hill, a special territory regarding its location and its soil composition, is a true Grand Cru terroir.

St. Andrea Winery

ST.ANDREA

Our 45 hectares of land is situated in the historical wine region of Eger. We built St.Andrea winery on the side of “Öreghegy” in Egerszalók. When choosing the varieties of grapes we kept the wine-making and historical traditions in mind that are distinctively attached to this area and culture. We pay attention of our vineyards possessing different givens. We wish to exploit all givens received by the soil and climate. The vinicultural and historic traditions were taken into consideration at choosing the best grape varieties. In the middle of our winemaking philosophy terroir is the most important. Our goal is utilising all givens of our land by using traditional viniculture methods. We grow 19 different grape-varieties which means we are typically local that is 'egries'.

Our wines are born in barrels as it was in the time of our grandfathers and grand-grandfathers.

Our aim is reinterpreting the Egri Bikavér and the Eger wine character which is a demand of conscientious and consistent viniculture and wine-making work.

Thummerer Winery

THUMMERER

The Thummerer Winery is a family enterprise that began in 1984 when we first started grape cultivation and wine making. We produce wines from our self-established, 100-hectare vineyard in the Eger wine region. There is a wide selection of varieties on our land. The main varieties are Királyleányka, Chardonnay, Ottonel Muscatel, Tramini, Zenit, Sauvignon Blanc, Kékfrankos, Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc, Merlot, Pinot Noir, Syrah, Blauburger and Kadarka.

In our vineyard, we grow 80% red grapes and 20% white. Every year we renew our technology with internationally recognized modern and superior quality equipment. This is true not only for our winery but also for our viticulture. Our main goal is to attain the highest quality so that we can create a specialty each year that will enhance our selection.

TOKAJ WINE REGION

Tokaj boasts natural conditions and centuries of wine tradition so unique, that it was named a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2002.

One of the main resources that has helped this treasure of a wine region to sustain a distinct culture and create value over the ages is the local climate. Shaped to a large extent by the region's two rivers, the Tisza and the Bodrog, along with their wetlands and moors, make a major contribution to weather conditions, enabling the reliable occurrence of botrytis in the fall. Another key factor is the terrain, notably the sheltered slope on the southeastern fringe of the Zemplén Hills. Last, but not least, the fame of the region relies on the extraordinarily colorful palette of bedrocks and soils, although most of them are volcanic in origin. The vineyards occupy altitudes of 100 to 300 meter. At present, some 6000 hectares are planted with vines.

The Tokaj wine region includes one protected origin (PDO) and one land wine (PGI) designation: Tokaj (PDO), Zemplén (PGI).

Béres Wine estate

We are a family owned, premium class, medium size prestige winery in Tokaj wine region. Since the very beginning we have aimed to create great wines that match the high prestige of the Tokaj Wine Region in the historical plots of our Estate by employing a modern approach and state-of-the-art technology.

Today we are proud to announce that we have accomplished this great objective: as a result of the excellent terroir, the microclimate, limit yielding and professional as well as gentle processing, we made our debut in 2003 with beautiful and promising wines, which were followed by further trophies in Hungary and abroad alike. These days we are selling more than 70% of our wines to our export partners, worldwide. We have 45 hectares of grapes and producing approx. 200 000 bottles per year.

Late Harvest Chardonnay dry

The classic green-greenish yellow colour oily swirling promises a significant body. First some hay, green apple, gooseberry appears on the nose, then after a little breathing the ripened grape becomes dominant. On the palate the body is really full as it was promised. Some might lack the range of acidity, but as a whole it is an elegant, respectful, noble wine. The alcohol level is almost 15%, and this with the barrel ageing gives you a wine for thought, a decent Chardonnay from Hajós–Bajai wine region.

INSPIRATION. The winemaker watches nature. At each vintage he is keeping his eye on the development of the flavours, aromas, the play of acids of his favourite varieties and develops a desire... It would be nice if this was the one... Well, it was such a YEAR. The playfulness of the dominant Hárslevelű and the vibrant acids of Chenin Blanc prop up this fragile scale of tones. This is accomplished with the serious, complex, moderate presence of the Chardonnay. This is how Melegeshegy gave us this in 2015.

PÁLINKA SELECTION

While fruit brandies are produced all over the world none match pálinka for diversity of flavour and character. There are hundreds of varieties, all of which take on the subtle characteristics of the Carpathian Basin's unique fruit varieties, climate and soil, as well as local traditions passed down through the generations.

Hungarian tradition and proverbs prove that the pálinka is part of the Central European culture.

An alcoholic beverage may be called pálinka if:

- it is fermented exclusively from fruit grown in Hungary, and free of additional ingredients
- is grown, distilled and bottled in Hungary
- is not rectified higher than 86% and is bottled with at least 37.5% ABV.

Pálinka contains no allergic components. Purified water is used for fixing the alcohol-level.

Brill Distillery

The Brill Pálinka House is a real family enterprise, but in terms of quality, knowledge, it belongs to Hungary's top: in 2013 it was the most awarded Hungarian Pálinka distillery and they made it Hungary's best pálinka twice.

Their motto: „Pálinka is experience” – according to this, in every drop of pálinka they wish to unlock the treasures of the nature to the customer.

They continuously research the possibilities in pálinka and gastronomy, spread the experience, as pálinka is more than just a drink.

Szicsek Distillery

The Szicsek Distillery is one of the oldest craft distilleries and one of the most important private enterprises of Jász-Nagykún-Szolnok County in Hungary. Following his father's footsteps, János Szicsek re-opened his plant on the land dominated by the Tisza and Körös rivers. The company, which today employs more than fifty people, strives for high quality, consistent and true values and authenticity. The different types of pálinkas and spirits are made of both home and wild grown fruits of Hungary and the Carpathian Basin, using 1000 to 1200 tons of fruit every year. They produce around eighty different products from thirty different kinds of fruit.

Products are targeting selective consumers of selective business partners, who have the same goal as Szicsek Distillery does, that pálinka gets its well-deserved place amongst the alcoholic beverages of the world and who would like to act as ambassadors for this gastronomic specialty and its culture around the world.

Zsindelyes Distillery

We founded our family business in Érpatak in 1984 where we built a distilling equipment based on the traditional home distilling technology.

We had two objectives. First, we wished to launch our own commercial pálinka distilling; second, we wished to satisfy the contract distillation demand of the local people. The name of the company reflects the settlement where the pálinka distillery is located and the roof covering traditions common in the region of Szabolcs-Szatmár-Bereg County, thus emphasizing the nature of the traditional pálinka distilling.

Zsindelyes Pálinkafőzde started its operation as a family business with four founding members, producing then bottling fruit pálinkas. In recent times our company developed dynamically. This is reflected in the construction of new production, bottling and storage facilities. By now our ISO 22000:2500 food safety and IFS system covers the entire spectrum of the professional activity in the field of pálinka distilling, ensuring the high-quality work.

The distillation takes place in a traditional two-step copper cauldron which consists of a 487 litre distilling cauldron and a 328 litre refiner. Our distilling equipment was a wood-fired traditional one, but we decided to use steam-heating instead in order to ensure even distilling temperature. Therefore we can ensure even temperature and thus enhanced control over the distilling process.
