FOUNDERS

We are connected by so many ties to the Balaton, that we felt we need to create something lasting here to further increase the reputation of Pécsely and the Balaton.

We met each other during our college years, kept our friendship periodically, as time passed, we realized that our capabilities were complementary and together we could create unique and special value.

One of the most important meeting places of the Hungarian youth summers is the Balaton Uplands. This is how it happened to us, more than a decade ago. Due to the family manufactory, the producing possibilities were already available.

Finally, we have created ZADOR, a value, that utilizes the attributes of the environment, using the highest quality raw materials, plant-based ingredients and the Hungarian national treasure thermal water.

ZADOR STORY

Everything has a unique story – even a simple soap. Therefore, we love hearing these stories. The Hévíz thermal water has been carrying these magical stories for thousands of years. All the rich vitamin E infused natural oil drops that we poured into our soaps also carry their unique stories from exotic places all around the world. The sweet, mystic, spicy, woody, fruity and floral scents that we added to these soaps also carry their own true stories.

Our family manufactory represents a new trend in the world of natural and handmade, gorgeously packaged soaps by combining traditional and modern manufacturing technologies.

The soap range contains premium quality, natural ingredients. Due to the unique healing effect of the world famous thermal water in Héviz, these soaps nourish and protect the skin in the gentlest way.

OUR TECHNOLOGY

The development and continuous improvement of the production technology is defined along three principles – tradition, naturalness, and modernity. We believe that the combination of traditional techniques and modern processes results in the creation of a high-end product, if high-quality and natural ingredients are used.

One of the essential stages of the production process of the ZADOR Soaps is the so-called triple-milled method, which originates from the traditional French soap manufactories in the early 1700's. During the production process, soaps are pressed by the steel rollers, compressed, and refined several times. As a result, the material of the soap becomes more homogeneous and the various ingredients of the family recipe are evenly distributed.

The particular feature of the method developed is that every single piece of soap is compressed by a hand-driven tool to shape its final form. Its ergo- nomic shape is creat- ed by pressing it with an almost 1000kg force. Besides the nice-looking appearance and handy design, the soap is extremely solid and durable.

our objective is to meet the best internal and external quality. This final phase of the handwork makes our product come alive and fills them with love. With both the design of the packaging and the form of the soaps, we strived for diversity, perfect details, and creating a balanced harmony.

THERMAL WATER

Hungary's favourable geographical position and unique hydrography have contributed to the development of – one of its most well-known national treasures – thermal wells, which are outstanding both in quality and in quantity.

The thermal water breaking to the surface from more than 1.000 meter depth, contains plenty of minerals such as sodium hydrogen-carbonate, iron, iodine, calcium, magnesium, potassium, fluorine, sulfur, and carbon dioxide. which has extraordinary healing properties for healing aching joints and muscles, soothing irritated or eczema affected skin and strengthening nails and hair.

Besides their nourishing Shea Butter and moisturising Vitamin E content, each bar of ZADOR soap is made by using thermal water of Europe's largest healing warmwater lake, Lake Hévíz, which is World Heritage Site Ingredients such as calcium, magnesium and sulphur rarely occur together naturally.

The beneficial effects of thermal water on body and soul – featured in the ZADOR soaps – is known worldwide, most importantly, its healing power on skin disorders.

We are connected by so many ties to the Balaton, that we felt we need to create something lasting here to further increase the reputation of Pécsely and the Balaton.
